Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the ADSL system comprising the features claimed in claims 1-22 must be shown or the features canceled from the claims. No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3-7, 9-12, 14-18 and 20-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Long et al (US 2003/0189952).

Regarding claims 1, 7, 12 and 18, Long discloses an ADSL system comprising mobile and central office transceivers (paragraph 0005). A handshaking tone is transmitted at either a first or second tone of the available tones. Tones in the DMT spectrum are chosen because they represent low frequency, downstream tones as defined in G.992.1. Such low frequency tones can be transmitted over longer distances thereby improving the "reach" of the present invention (paragraph 0030). The "reach" is the distance between units.

Regarding claims 3, 5, 9, 14, 16 and 20, Long discloses the tones are TTR tones (paragraph 0005).

Regarding claims 4, 6, 10, 15, 17 and 21, Long discloses any usable tone is selected (paragraph 0030).

Regarding claims 11 and 22, Long discloses the transceivers are in bidirectional communication via a TCM-ISDN network (paragraph 0005).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 2, 8, 13 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Long et al (US 2003/0189952).

Regarding claims 2, 8, 13 and 19, Long discloses the method and apparatus stated above. Long discloses tones 33-64 of the DMT spectrum are chosen since they can be transmitted over longer distances (paragraph 0030) and each of these tones can be transmitted distances over 5 Km. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to transmit at tones of lower frequency when a greater distance is needed to be traversed as stated in paragraph 0030. This improves the reach of the present invention. The distance of 6.2 Km is a simply design choice for determining which tone to transmit.
